PROVENANCE ORDERS*What is a Provenance Order?

The most common description of a provenance order is one where the seed or vegetative material used to propagate the plants is sourced from the property to be revegetated. In many cases this may not be possible if the property has been cleared or damaged, in these cases materials are sourced from the nearest suitable area or from the Nursery stocks if they are identified as suitable.

The Nursery also use the term Provenance Order to describe the growing of plants which do not appear on our growing list but arrangements are made for production for a specific revegetation project. In this case the material can be sourced from the project property or from the nursery stocks.

How do I place a Provenance Order?

If your order is outside our normal ordering process for the reasons above or other reasons you should contact the Nursery Manager or their representative to discuss your needs. You can do this by first sending an e-mail outlining the plants and quantities you require and a brief outline of the project to enquiries@leschenaultcommunitynursery.com.au or you could telephone or make an appointment to meet with the manager. When the order is approved you should complete and send the order form following the instructions provided. (Don't forget to tick the Provenance Order box on the second page.)
